"I don't understand"

"Ayato, I have informed you millions of times and yet you still don't understand"

"Just tell me again already!"

Letting out a sigh and pinching the bridge of his nose he repeated himself, "He has sent us a letter informing us that we are to begin working as he has lost three quarters of our money due to a wrong investment for political reasons you wouldn't understand."

It was quarter past six in the evening, with all of the schools closed due to it being summer vacation. It had only been three days since the last day ended and Reiji had already had enough of it. Here he had thought that his younger brothers, mainly the triplets, had grown up and didn't disturb him but he could be easily fooled. Within the first 48 hours, the Sakamaki brothers had received a letter from their father regarding their finance situation. As being the most sensible one of all six of them (including Yui), he had gathered them in the living room to discuss about their current state.

"But I what about the mansion" Ayato questioned, giving Reiji an angry look.

"Ayato we own it; the reason I am telling you all this is because if you desire to have extra things, you will have to go and find a job."

Reiji calmly replied sitting down in his chair starring at his younger brothers.

"Ore-Sama doesn't work, just get Chichinashi to work" Folding his arms across his chest he gave a hostile look towards his older brother.

"Whaâ€”I" A confused looking Yui suddenly felt the urge to defend herself. She knew it wouldn't work, Ayato was as stubborn as a mule. No matter what she had to say he wouldn't listen; if her blood was mentioned he would be all ears.

"Bitch-Chan~" Laito sang with a leering smirk plastering his face, "Why don't you help me out here by giving me your money, and as a reward I will offer you inevitable pleasure~"

"U-um no thank you" she tried to push him away to which he didn't flinch.

"Enough you two, everyone is to start work tomorrow, I have called up places for you so you don't have to worry about it; not that you will. You are NOT to take money away from others, especially Yui's"

With that being said everyone got up and left the small gathering, nobody knowing how bad tomorrow was going to go especially since Reiji chose the jobsâ€¦

A/N: Hello ! Thank you so much for reading my first story, I'm sorry if it's not long i'm trying my hardest . I had an idea and wanted all of the Sakamaki brothers (and Yui) to see how they would work. I don't know what character to do first, nor do I know what job to give them but i'm trying! I'm thinking of getting someone fired on the first day mwahaha... This is me trying to be funny -_- Anyway I hope you guys enjoy my story!

2. Sinfully Pleasurable

A/N: Hello! It's me again ^^ Here's a new chapter. It took me longer than expected to write this. God knows how I got this idea, I was listening to 'The kids aren't alright' By both Fall Out Boy and The Offspring and know here we are XD I couldn't get any ideas on how to write both of these together. Anyway I done it lmao. I don't own anything, sadly the Diaboys doesn't belong to me. I tried to make this a lemon XD. Sorry if this is OCC. Enough of me talking, I hope you enjoy the new chapter! Thank you for reading! (I know there are spelling mistakes lmao I'm sorry)

"Laito, what in the world happened to you and Yui" Reiji asked with an almost amused face not believing what he was seeing. Right before his eyes was a wet, shivering Yui with only a blanket to cover the underwear she had on. Then there was a disorganized Laito with his infamous hat almost ripped into two, the cloudy grey vest he was wearing before he had left had completely vanished, the shirt had buttons savagely ripped off and the zipper on his trousers had broke.

"W-W-We tried to es-escape them," Yui explaining the situation between pants, "They were mer-merciless"

"Monsters," Laito remembered, "They were aggressive monsters"

"Who were they, how pathetic you to look is laughable" Reiji inputted, trying not to laugh at the scene. It was a windy night and he had just returned home from his job only a matter of minutes ago. The wind was strong, banging at the gigantic windows.

"AAAAAAAGGGHHHH!" As if on cue the two spooked people screamed together, their voices echoing against the walls. Yui darted towards Laito, hiding behind him. Whilst Laito tried to push Yui to the front. Both arguing who should be sacrificed when the other person runs off.

"I'm gonna die a virgin!" Yui (not realising she had said it out loud) cried almost tripping over. This was it, Reiji couldn't help but laugh at it. She seemed so helpless until she had figured out it was the dead branches.

"I told you we should have done it when we had the chance!" Laito instantly replied.

"I'll ask again, who was it?" Reiji inquired, pinching the bridge of his nose.

Laito and Yui giving each other a look or agreement and on three they both gave their answer as to who was torturing themâ€¦

"THE CHILDREN!"

Earlier~ **

Yui woke up later then she wanted to; fortunately, not too late. With one glance around her room she found a note on her dressing table. Not wanting to get out of her bed, but she knew she had to, Yui shuffled towards her wanted destination loving the feel of her feet against the carpet. Reaching out to the note addressed to her it read,

"Dear Yui,

As you remember yesterday I had told you and everyone else about your work placement. You would be pleased to hear that the closet church to use needed two people for assistance. They were quite happy to hear a request and instantaneously accepted. Now I have mentioned two of you were to go and help. I have assigned Laito to work with you. You are to take care of some orphans whilst Laito helps out the local choir by playing the piano. Both of you end at 5pm. I apologise in advance,

Reiji"

Sighing to herself knowing how difficult this was going to be, Yui put down the note and took a glimpse of the time. Deciding it to be too late to take a shower; she headed towards the closet. Picking out her attire and laying it on the bed. Strolling into the bathroom to brush her teeth she thought to herself,

"Maybe this wouldn't be too bad" Getting changed, the thoughtful girl viewed herself in the mirror. It was the clothes she would wear when they went to church. A light lavender, floral, sweetheart neckline cocktail dress, a denim jacket and a pair of pastel purple coloured heels. Noting that the dress had become a bit tighter around her chest area, a blush crawled across her face at the thought of her breasts getting bigger. Tying her hair into a bun she heard a knock on the door.

The door handle turned to reveal a very much familiar face, "Bitch-Chan~"

"Yes, Laito-Kun?" Yui stood up finished with her outfit.

"Are you going to a party or to babysit," His eyes goggled around her bust; letting out a sigh he continued, "Why don't we just stay here and get you out of that dress. You'd look so good underneath me naked, Bitch-Chan"

Blushing at his words she replied, "Laito-Kun we have to go. Oh and please don't call me that in the church or with the kids" Hearing a small whine coming from Laito's direction, she still knew something would happen. She could feel it in her stomach.

"We should get going the church should start soon!" Hearing the excitement in her words it made him smirk. Remembering the last time both had went to churchâ€¦

Both deciding to leave for work, walked down the steps only to see everyone in their work uniforms. Taking this situation as serious as possible Yui opted to not laugh at how fascinatingly hot they all looked. Waving both their departure to the household, together they climb into the limo. Yui chose the seat directly opposite the door.

"Bitch-Chan have you came to sit closer to me?"

"I always wondered what it felt like sitting here."

"While we're here we could have some funâ€¦" Laito purred in her ear making her blush heavenly.

"L-Laito-Kun" She whimpered feeling his breath against her ear.

"Ssh," Snaking both arms around her waist laying her down underneath him, "The offer still stands. Consider this a free trail..."

With his signature smirk filling his exquisite face, he bent down to kiss her. Biting on her bottom lip felt like sin. Pure sin. Hearing a gasp falling from her lips; using this opportunity to slip his tongue inside. He skimmed his hands around the outline of her chest down to her thighs; hooking them around his hips.

"Agh, Lai...to...kun" Yui breathlessly moaned his name. Throwing the fedora of his head it, it landing in a corner of the car, and grabbing a fistful of hair dragging him closer.

"I think I have a thrilled little bitch with me, ne?" Leaning down to her ear he whispered, "My my, say my name like that one more time and I will show you a whole other world filled with sinful pleasure"

"Lai...to-"

"We have arrived." The familiar stated opening the door, revealing their little session.

"Don't worry Bitch-Chan, I'll get you another time..." Fetching his fedora, winking, he exited the vehicle. Taking a peek back inside, a blushing Yui checking her appearance was found. Offering his arm out, she hesitatingly took it and linked her arm around. Stealing a glimpse at his attire. Eyeing it up and down she blushed when she saw something poking through the denim jeans. Realising she had been staring at it for the last minute; Yui swiftly altered her sight in the opposite direction.

"Hm, Bitch-Chan? Is there something you want from me?" His sudden question made her wide-eyed, fully knowing what he meant. Smirking Stimulatingly at her reaction, they began to walk to the October brown coloured front barrier not knowing what they we're expecting. The garden was beautiful, crimson roses lined the walkway reminding her off her old church. An endless forest lagging behind them. Almost getting halfway there, the entrance had opened.

"Hello! My name is Ayako Hayashi, it's a please to meet you two" The said girl voiced, bowing down to the both. She was fairly tall, almost reaching the height of Yui. Long wine dyed hair, pulled up into half a ponytail, spread across her back. Azure blue orbs looked with sherbet pink. The young female wore just a light blue oversized shirt. Yui finding it weird how the church didn't have any trousers on. Crouching down to her level, Yui said:

"Hello Hayashi-San, my name is Yui Komori and this is Laito Sakamaki. It's an honour to meet you!" Giving her a small squeeze, Ayako grabbed her hand and led her inside.

"Don't you have any people looking after you?" Laito questioned, ignoring Yui's death stare in his direction.

"Nope. Yumi-San went to another church for a meeting." She shot him a mischievous glance, a smirk forming on her tiny face.

"Where is everyone then?" Yui asked looking around the church. A small giggle broke free from the child's lips as she ran into a room at the corner of the hall.

"I'll go get them but it'll be a while!"

It was silent, too silent but it was the silence she enjoyed. Taking a seat on the nearest pew on the left hand side of Laito; gripping her waist, she could feel the familiar wetness pooling in her panties, remembering their last visit. Without realising she began to clench her thighs, turning her head to the side letting a small, quiet, undying moan fall from her lips. Thinking he hadn't heard it, she was wrong...

"Bitch-Chan, do you want me to remind you of our last trip here..." His erotic vice teased her until all she could he was him. He had pinned her down, arms above her head. Swooping down so his mouth was level with her ear he whispered, "I told you that you would look oh so good under me Bitch-Chan. But if I think I said I wanted you _Naked_..."

"...Mhm..." Heart pounding faster every second. It felt like ecstasy the way he talked to her like that. Grabbing as much hair tightly that she could gather, Yui rammed his lips upon hers. Biting on his bottom lip demanding an entrance. Sliding her tongue along his was exhilarating. His taste, the way her tounge grazed his fangs, everything. Realising himself from her grasp, a small disappointing moan came from her lips.

"Bitch-Chan~, Let's fly to the moon, where we'll make love amongst the stars..." With one quick slash all her buttons on her jacket and dress were ripped from their original places, scattering on the floor. Her dress opened to reveal a strapless midnight blue push up bra with black silk outlining the cups. The sight was mouthwatering, the sight of her squirming underneath him mixed with her enticing sent. It was enough to drive him over the edge.

"L-La...ito...Kun" Yui whimpered, feeling his cold hands touched her heated skin. A smirk had taken shape on his face as he ripped all the extra clothes off. Leaving her in her undergarments. Yui's hands shaking in excitement, almost forgetting what they were doing here, forcefully ripped the grey vest off of him.

"Laito-Kun we can't d-do this in a church!"

"Your mind says one thing yet your lower half says another... Now show me the little slut you are..." Nodding her head she couldn't take the throbbing in between her legs anymore. Unconsciously, she secured her legs around his torso. Feeling his clothed member near her thighs.

"THERE THEY ARE GET THEM!" Groups of the orphanage had burst from all doors surrounding them. The huddles of people sprinted as fast as their little legs could carry them towards a blushing Yui and a puzzled Laito.

"W-what do we do!" Yui questioned, covering herself up, "Whe-where did they get weapons from? AGH!" Jumping back at the sudden attack their new so called 'friend', Ayako, had presented.

"Like hell I know, we'll have to run. Don't bother collecting your clothes. There's a blanket by the door, go grab it now, I'll try to talk to these things." The outside now pouring down with rain, flashes of lighting and the unpleasant sounds of thunder. The red headed girl ambled towards Laito, pointing the sword downwards.

"Give me your money."

"You're a confident little one aren't you. Tell me, where did you get those weapons and where did you think you could try to take my money." Smiling at her, he bent down to her level removing his hat.

"I don't care about what you think about it. I will get your money, whether it be from her or you." Lunging forward she slashed his hat half way as a warning sign. Sighing, he removed his semi broken hat from the defense object; looking at her as he got up, Laito gave her a scowl. One more lunge, she sliced the bottom four buttons and the zipper from his pants. He tried to hid his nervousness, know fully understanding she could use these sort of things. Walking backwards in a slow manner, both bumped into each other. Giving one and other a look of agreement, they surged in the direction of the limo. Laito obviously being faster, laughed at the young ones trying to catch up. Shortly behind him was Yui, her running too was begging to go faster all thanks to the adrenaline rush.

"OPEN THE DAMNED DOOR" He shouted at the familiar, which he quickly complied. Leaping into the vehicle at full speed, dragging a worn out Yui with him, he confidently locked the door. Yelling at the driver to drive at full speed, Yui collapsed next to him.

"You know... With all this running... I should have lost more weight..." The panting girl complained. Hearing a small chuckle coming from his lips she let out a small smile.

"We are here." With the door being opened. A pair of paranoid young adults moped to the manor...

Present~

"So I see." Reiji smiled to himself, hearing how they both we're helplessly scared, "Now you two are out of a job, I'm not going to deal with your two problems anymore. You want to find another job go look for it yourself."

"Fine. How did your first day goâ€”" Reiji given an angry glare at Laito, forewarning to leave it there. As soon as he was about to reply, a large racket came the entrance. All three looked at each other, trying to guess which one had returned home.

"Maybe it'sâ€“" Hearing another door open, the said man standing in front of them dripping wet from the rain...
